ABOUT THE COURSE

In the world of resources, the literal safety and economics of these resources are crucial in fulfilling the life of an entity. A resource is an item whose content is a source for producing goods or services. Any item that can produce another item or a service should be secured. The safeguarding of resources is an integral part of an entity's internal controls, internal audits and corporate governance. To secure resources is not per se to "hide" them somewhere; it is to take full responsibilities to manage the contents of resources.

BANK

The entities of banks can do all the above acts for the financial economics of all forms of resources. Commercial banks use finances to conduct credit transactions, foreign currency auctions, liquidity releases and recession bailout grants, they seem to be able to secure the economics by conducting redemptive economic conducts alongside. The central bank safeguards financial contents in the economics of re-sources. This bank uses finances to set denominational legality, bank notes and coinage legality. Also, they use graphical designs to define the legality of the same.
